

SATURDAY EVENING, SEPT. 28, 1907.

THE rejection of Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks as a delegate to the quadrennial conference of the Methodist Church at the meeting in Columbus, Ind., yesterday was doubtless actuated by conscientious motives on the part of those who cast their ballots against him. A great many people, however, cannot see in what manner the Vice President has committed an unpardonable sin in serving light stimuiants at a dinner given on Memorial Day in honor of the President of the United States. There are other charges against Mr. Fairbanks. It is averred that he did cal in all his ways. STUDENTS GOING TO CONVEN-

An interesting feature of the General Episcopal Convention, which holds its opening session in Richmond next Wednesday will be a gathering of the alumni of the Virginia Theological Seminary near Alexandria. The occasion will be in the form of a rennion, and will be 7:30 o'clock. It was formerly stated that the banquet would be held in the Jefferson hotel, but the change will be made in view of the fact that lunches will be daily served to the convention delegates in the temple, and a change would cause confusion. The students of the seminary will be granted a leave of absence commencing Friday, October 4, and extending through the following week, in order that they may take advantage of the sessions of the general convention. - Richmond News Leader.

FAIRBANKS DEFEATED.

Charles W. Fairbanks, Vice President of the United States, was defeated yes tetday at Columbus, Ind., for delegate to the quadrennial conference of the Methodist Church, after one of the most bitter contests that has ever been waged in a religious assembly.

The temperance laymen, many of them long associated with Mr. Fairbanks in the church, refused to condone what they regard as an offense against temperauce, and the distinguished candidate went down because of having served cocktails and three kinds of wine at the dinner given to President Roosevelt on Memorial Day at the Fairbanks bome.

There were eighteen candidates for the seven places, and it was given out that the Vice President would head the delegation by being selected by acclamation.
The motion, however, to select Mr. Fairbanks by acclamation was defeated by a decided majority, and it was de-cided to elect delegates by ballot. It required 97 votes to elect, and on the first ballot two candidates were chosen. Mr. Fairbanks received but 79

On the second ballot two other candidates were chosen, and the Fairbanks vote fell to 65. On the third ballot he received but 45 votes, on the fourth 47 votes, and on the fifth 35 votes. The constant falling off in the Vice-President's vote discouraged his friends, and when the result of the fifth ballot was announced, his name was withdrawn, a friend making the statement that the Vice President had not been a candidate in any sense of the word, but that his friends thought it would be an honor to him and the church to send him as a delegate to the quadrennial

: S JUDGE SLEPT.

While Judge J. W. G. Blackstone was sleeping on his bench yesterday afternoon, the Commonwealth's attorney, attorneys for the defeuse and the sheriff held a conference and decided that the Circuit Court of Elizabeth City county, in which Julian Pavlinic is on trial for his life, charged with wife mur-der, should be adjourned until today. After this decision had been reached, the clerk awakened the judge, and F. S. Collier, senior counsel for the defense, moved that court be adjourned until to day in order that City Sergeant. Milstead, of Newport News, might be summoned as a witness for the defense. The judge agreed, and court was declared adjourned The jurors were very much wrought up over the situation, and some of them declared their intention of dispersing and quitting attendance upon the court, They were informed by Sheriff Curtis, however, that despite the judge's nap, he proposed to do his du'y and see that the law was carried out as far as the jury was concerned. The jurymen were locked up for the night as usual. It is said that Judge Blackstone had been drowsy all day, and while Attorney Collier was in the middle of an argument 'yesterday afternoon, the judge fell into a sound slumber. Mr. Collier requested the c'erk to arouse the court. This was done, and the argument proceeded. A few moments afterward Common-wealth's Attorney Lewis objected to the introduction of certain records which were being read by Mr. Collier, and it developed that the court was hearing neither record nor objections. Then the

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving remembrance of our daughter, ISABELLA BUTTS, who departed this life September 29, 1999 September 29, 1906—one year ago tomorr The trial is hard, the pain severe,
To part with one we loved so well:
But in our hearts she shall remain
Until we meet in Heaven again.

The depths of my sorrow tongue cannot tell At the loss of my daughter I loved so well; As she lies in peaceful sleep Her sacred memory will be kept, By HER LOVING MOTHER AND FATHER, MR. AND MES. E. T. STRELE,

In memory of my beloved wife, ISABELLA
M. BUTT's, who departed this life September 29, 1906—one year ago tomorrow.

Farewell, dear, but not forever,
There will be a glorious dawn;
We shalt meet to part—no never,
On the resurrection morn.

The thy derliner form lies sleeping.

Tho' thy darling's form lies sleeping In the cold and silent tomb, Thou shall have a glorious waking When the blessed Lord doth come. A devoted wife and a loving mother.

By Her Devoted Husband and Little Son, L. E. Butts, Sr., and L. E. Butts, Jr. [Dedicated to the memory of my dear friend, CLARA FLORENCE WADE.]
